ELEARNING DEVELOPMENT OFFICER
(CONSULTANCY)

JUNE 2020

INTRODUCTION
We are looking for an experienced eLearning Development Officer to develop an eLearning module for our child helpline members.

Child Helpline International is one of the world’s largest collective impact organisations, with 173 child helpline members in 142 countries. Every year, our network receives millions of calls from children, young people and adults seeking advice and support. These voices form the basis of our advocacy work targeting policy-makers to strengthen children’s rights locally, regionally and globally. Alongside data collection and quality standards for child helplines, one of our core activities is to create resources that can be used to build capacity of responders and counsellors working within our member child helplines.

We are now looking for a consultant who can lead the development an eLearning module on how child helplines can best support children in migration in 2020.

ABOUT THE ROLE
We are planning to launch a module on child helpline support for children in migration. As our consultant, you will lead on this process, including developing the learning methodology and the learning design. The necessary content input for these modules will be guided by a project coordinator, in consultation with child helpline members, young people and other key stakeholders.

This role is based remotely, due to the Covid-19 situation.

DURATION AND TIME SCHEDULE
The development of the module is expected to take 20 consultancy days, which will be divided over 3 months, according to the provisional time schedule below:

- July-August: devise the learning methodology and design for the module.
- August-September 2019: design and develop module on children in migration.
- October: launch of module.

PRODUCTS
All products and related documents will be the property of Child Helpline International.

- One module on support for children in migration (with a total duration of 20-30 minutes)
